ITALIANS IN COURT.

David Clapier, Discharged, Has Bertlnoti Arrested.

An Italian feud which started fifteen years ago was aired in police court yes-terday morning, when David Clapier was arraigned before Judge Murphy on a charge of having used abusive and inde-cent language and disturbing the peace. After the entire morning session was taken up with the hearing Judge Murphy dismissed the action.

Clapier was charged with using the of-fensive language toward Mary Bertinoti. It was brought out at the hearing that Clapier was arrested once before and ac-Clapier was arrested once before and acquitted on a similar charge and that since that time the Bertinoti family had it in for him. The case was so well established in favor of Clapier that the court decided in his favor.

Following this case Clapier swore out a complaint against one of the Bertinotis, whom he charged with threatening to kill him with the sid of a shot.

California Method of Saving Fruit Trees Is Detailed in Letter to County Inspector.

John Isaac, secretary of the California state board of horticulture, has, at the request of John P. Sorensen, Salt Lake county inspector, written a letter giving information as to the methods employed information as to the methods employed on the coast of fighting frost with fire. The letter in part follows:

"We have several methods to which we resort in order to raise the temperature of the orchards when it falls to the freezing point. In some cases fires are built on stone boats or sledges. The fire is first well started and then covered with damp stable manure. This makes a very dense smoke and fills in between the trees dense smoke and fills in between the trees in the orchards. Sometimes several of these are kept going. Another method is to make fires at intervals in the orchard and to cover these with damp straw or stable manure, and then let the smoke spread through the orchard. It is cussan, slept soundly in a room in the Allen block Wednesday night a thief entered, secured $18.40 from Hale's trousers and departed. James discovered the loss yesterday morning and reported it to the police. He also told the officers that the thief falled to find a roll of $500 in greenbacks which he had placed under his pollow.

Orden is not the only place that to short to have everything in readiness, the fire's laid and everything ready to touch a match to and start the smudges going as soon as the temperature drops low enough to cause alarm. Still another method by which we fight frost is to have a number of heavy wire baskets placed at intervals all through the orchard, in which kindling is laid all ready to fire, his pollow.

Ogden is not the only place that is suffering by the commission of crime these days. From Collinston came the report yesterday that on Wednesday night a store was entered and gold watches, shoes and suits of clothing stolen. A gang of men seen in the town after sundown are suspected. Another suspicion is that the plunder was brought perature is raised by the steam from the

the present rates of insurance. It is generally admitted that rates are too high in Ogden, although it is doubtful if anything will be done toward lowering them until the city is in a position to command its water and place fire hydrants where they are most needed. In connection with the establishing of a municipal water plant a trip to South Fork canyon is planned by the mayor and some of the councilmen for next Sunday. This is considered about the most feasible site within a reasonable distance of the city.

Brush on Charge of Robbery.

J. B. Brush, a messenger boy, 22 years old, known in Commercial street as "Kid" Brush, was arrested last night, charged with robbery. C. M. Bird, janitor of a building at Main and Second South streets, alleges that Brush is one of three messenger boys who held him up early Wednesday morning back of the Alamo saloon, formerly the Jubilee, in Commercial street, and robbed him of $16.50 and a gold watch. He says that Joe Henry, now under arrest, and another boy innow under arrest, and another boy inluced him to walk back of the saloon. Then Brush appeared and exhibited a badge, saying that he was a policeman. He took Bird's watch and money, saying that he believed that the janitor was wanted by the police. He went away, pretending, according to Bird, that he was going to look for another policeman. Then Henry and the other boy slipped away, leaving Rind alone. After waiting away, leaving Bird alone. After waiting nearly an hour the Janitor went to po-lice headquarters. He has positively iden-

Oscar Hammerstein said of a theatrical question recently in New York:
"Some of our managers get heated over theatrical questions. We let personal things—rage, joy—influence us. This is wrong. To succeed in this business one must be as cool and calm and farseeing as the young lady of Oshkosh."

Philip Winsten, a fourteen-year-old boy who was intercepted some weeks ago on his way from California to Chicago, and who has since been cared for by Juvenile Judge A. A. Noon, will soon be on his way to Chicago to join his mother. This is all through the kindness of Judge Noon, who will personally pay the boy's fare. Young Winsten is a good boy, Judge Noon states, and a letter from his mother, Mrs. B. Winsten, corroborates Judge Noon's findings. She states that she sent the boy to her sister in California for his health, and that the sister was not good to him, and that he, therefore, tried to make his way back. Mrs. Winsten is very grateful to Judge Noon for the kindness grateful to Judge Noon for the kindner he has shown her son.
